About us

Who we are
How Why DIY is a network of web developers, digital media practitioners, artists and others.

What we do
How Why DIY produces events such as Jelly Liverpool, Ignite Liverpool and Social media café Liverpool.

Our other projects include

PC recycling
We've recently refurbished 3 Pc's for a Community Centre in Bootle.

Workshops for youth centre's
Our members are available for hire to run workshops in youth centre's and schools.

Digital awareness workshops and surgeries
We organize FREE social media surgeries for charities and community groups; most recently at BBC Radio Merseyside.

How? Why? DIY! was originally set up to answer just those questions and to give people the skills with which to do it.

Our network of web developers, digital media practitioners, artists and other interested parties from Liverpool was originally set up to create a single event in an effort to teach others about the transformational power of digital technology- that was back in 2010.
But we're still going strong.

Liverpool's show you how and why events

If you're looking for the opportunity to meet fellow coders, technologists, website designers, artists and digital marketing professionals then Jelly Liverpool is for you.

Jelly Liverpool is a relaxed friendly networking and co-working experience. We come together to work side by side for the day, allowing us to consult, relax, converse, compare and share. A monthly gathering that creates opportunities for collaboration and cooperation.

Jelly has a significant impact on the people who attend and the wider digital and creative ecosystem of the city. Jelly Liverpool offers those who work independently or remotely an environment to broaden their network whilst continuing with work.

Jelly Liverpool takes place once a month and is free to attend.

Jelly Liverpool is supported by Mi Liverpool through ACME at Liverpool Vision

Enlighten us but make it quick!

We're passionate about sharing knowledge and experiences, so Ignite Liverpool produces a quarterly event where members of the public are invited to present on a subject they are passionate about.

At this really popular event we get around 15 people to present their passions using a five minute Power Point presentation, where the slides are set to automatically forward ever fifteen seconds, at the end of this relaxed evening we ask a volunteer to improvise a talk for us which is hugely popular with the crowd.

Ignite Liverpool started in 2010 and has had nearly 20 events since then, with most of them taking place at Leaf Café on Bold Street. Visit our Youtube channel to view previous talks. youtube.com/user/igniteliverpool

Ignite Liverpool is free to attend

Ignite Liverpool is supported by Open Labs at LJMU but is always seeking further support.

#SMCLIV - for the digitally engaged and digitally enraged.

#smcliv is a fun and informal (but informing!) evening of discussion and socialising for everyone interested in the digital world.

Whether you're newly interested or are a confirmed digital junky, come and be informed and inspired. Each evening is made up of a series of short sessions led by some of the most exciting and forward looking individuals locally, followed by a chance to ask questions, start your own discussion and meet people.

SMCLiv is free to attend
